The technology itself is not reformative.
It's the school, the pedagogy,
that is transformative.

We need technology in every classroom & in every student - teacher's hand, we believe it is the pen & paper of our time, it is the lens through which we experience much of our education world.

Equipping teachers with technology that will automate the boring work will enhance education and make it more powerful. Teachers can spend more quality time on what they are good at—i.e., teaching.”

Digital leadership - teaching - learning are key factors for education industry in this networked world.

Digital reformation requires the right leadership & people. Driving successful digital changes are often more about the people involved and affected by it than it is about the technology.

Transforming schools digitally involves academic, content development, teaching tools & required technology, in nut-shell a complete process re-engineering and optimization.

Sunflower Education System
Its a Completely-Comprehensive Digital Reformation
of the School.

Generally ERP systems aim at providing data and functions to deliver products & services more efficiently to customers.

On the other hand, Digital Reformation enhances the way products and services are delivered to customers. Digital Reformation additionally changes even the products delivered to the customers.

In short ERP implementation is automating the existing school processes, whereas Digital Reformation involves taking quantum leaps for improving school's education quality & value.

It's high time, now Schools should adopt an appropriate Digital School Ecosystem & a culture that empowers teachers, students & parents who show inclination to take a lead role in the use of the Digital Teaching & Learning, otherwise they all won't be able to take advantages of available Digital Opportunities & continually enhance their productivity.
